

From: Archaeology
Sent: 11 March 2022 19:41
To: Planapps
Subject: RE: Consultation on Planning Application 22/00244/FULEXT Land Rear Of The Hollies Reading Road Burghfield Common Reading West Berkshire RG7 3BH

Dear Michael
Planning Ref 22/00244/FULEXT
Our Ref CWB11236

Thank you for the consultation. There are no known archaeological features within this site and I think the potential for below ground heritage assets to be present is quite low. No condition is requested but I note that the Hollies originated as a late 19th century house, and that the grain of the landscape here (ie the field boundaries) is documented from the 19th century at least, with the woodland to the north, once called Hermits Hill Wood, having already been diminished.

Best wishes
Sarah Orr BA MSc MCifA
Senior Archaeologist (Planning & Management Advice)
Development and Regulation West Berkshire Council Market Street Newbury RG14 5LD
07717 693340 | Sarah.Orr@westberks.gov.uk <https://info.westberks.gov.uk/archaeology>

-----Original Message-----

From: Planapps
Sent: 18 February 2022 09:12
To: Archaeology <Archaeology@westberks.gov.uk>
Subject: Consultation on Planning Application 22/00244/FULEXT Land Rear Of The Hollies Reading Road Burghfield Common Reading West Berkshire RG7 3BH

Please see attached